CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE HARLEY ROUDA TALKS ELECTION LESSONS AND BIDEN REPORT CARD WITH AMERICAN DISCOURSE PODCAST

Calabasas, CA (April 27, 2021) – Former Congressman Harley Rouda (D), who is a candidate in 2022 to take back the seat he lost in 2020 to hard-right Republican Michelle Steel, is the latest guest on the American Discourse podcast.

American Discourse (<https://www.anamericandiscourse.com/>) is a new podcast with host Robin Biro, a familiar face on many Georgia and national news shows. Biro does a deep dive into stories that affect all Americans. Weekly guests from all walks of life and across political spectrums discuss controversial stories with Biro and try to find common ground.

“Our aim is to have a truly open discourse, hearing the other side out, and hoping for more understanding of the issues that divide us and how we can heal the wounds of the past in order to find a more united future,” said founder David Katzner, who formed the PAC Discourse USA and political consulting firm Alliance Media Strategies with advisory committees composed of a volunteer group of seasoned progressives.

Rouda, of Newport Beach in Orange County, CA, joined Biro to discuss what he learned from the 2020 election that he'll use for the 2022 contest, how he thinks President Biden is doing so far, whether there's hope for meaningful legislation from this Congress and whether he supports Democrats in Congress getting things done any way they can if it's the only way possible.

The Rouda podcast airs April 27, everywhere you listen to podcasts (Apple Podcast, Spotify, Google, Stitcher and more): <https://www.anamericandiscourse.com/episode-12-bidens-100-days/>.
